SingularityNET is looking for a motivated, results-driven Legal Counsel to join our team! The role will be an in-house legal counsel that will work directly with the SingularityNET's Leadership Team. As part of the role you will be working on SingularityNET's upcoming token launches.

SingularityNET is an exciting innovative tech company of >100 people distributed globally. We are a values-driven organisation, with a core purpose of providing positive benefit to humanity and the planet, and to everyone we meet and work with. At SingularityNET every person is respected and encouraged to make their very best contribution, helping to deliver SingularityNET's vision as well as achieve their own personal goals and ambitions, while learning and having fun on the way. We are committed to diversity and inclusion and all candidates are welcomed and encouraged to apply irrespective of race, gender, age, religious beliefs, LGBTQ+ affiliation or any other minority characteristic.

In this role, you will:

- Advise legal issues surrounding token launches such as regulatory issues around picking up a jurisdiction, setting up the entity
- Advice on structuring the financial product - Regulated vs unregulated, utility ve security token
- Work the team in reg/corporate filing and whitepapers

We are looking for people who have an understanding of the fast-changing crypto landscape.

Experience in the following areas will be beneficial:

- Regulations around stablecoins (fiat/crypto backed or seigniorage coins)
- Understanding of DeFi and utility/security tokens
- Understanding of Exchange traded products (ETFs/ETPs)
- Any work experience with a UK/US regulator would be favourably considered.

Please submit your resume and a covering letter.
